

WHITMAN QUIZ FOR HINMAN

District Attorney Says He Will Vote for Man Selected by Republicans.

WOULDN'T SUBMIT TO MOOSE DICTATION

Announces His Candidacy and Promises, if Elected, to End Extravagance.

District Attorney Whitman said yesterday that if he had been willing to submit to the dictation of Colonel Roosevelt, he no doubt could have had the support of the leader of the Progressives.

In a formal statement he asserted he would support the Republican candidate selected at the primaries, and asked Harvey D. Hinman whether he would do the same. Saying that he had supported every Republican candidate ever nominated for Governor or President since he had been a voter, Mr. Whitman answered the question as to whether or not he had voted for Colonel Roosevelt in 1912.

Charles H. Duell, Jr., said that Mr. Whitman had told him he had voted for the Colonel in 1912. Asked to confirm this the next day, the District Attorney said he did not think it was necessary to say what he had done in 1912.

Stress was laid by Mr. Whitman on the statement that there had been extravagance and corruption in the state administration and that if elected Governor, he would put a stop to it. The District Attorney said: "I shall file my petition on the first permitted by law, and shall be a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination at the Republican primary and none other. I will support the Republican candidate chosen at that primary, as I have supported at the election every Republican nominee for President or Governor since I have been a voter. I ask Mr. Hinman if he will make a like pledge to support the Republican nominee chosen at the coming primary."

Mr. Whitman stood from the beginning of this fight for the principle that a candidate should be chosen by the enrolled voters of each party at their own primary.

He was against the attempt of Mr. Roosevelt to force a candidate upon the Republican party. If I had been willing to submit to his dictation, no doubt I could have had his support. I did not submit to it and I did not get it.

"The issue that will be fought out now is whether the Republican party is to be dominated by Mr. Roosevelt or by the enrolled members of the party at their own primary. That is the first issue at the primary."

"If elected Governor I propose to follow the trails partly uncovered by the recent graft investigations, no matter where such trails may lead, and what the consequences may be."

"The office of Governor has the further and more important function, the power to prevent departmental extravagance and corruption in the future. It is the duty of the Governor since the Democratic party came into power in the state there has been extravagance and corruption. What the people of the state want to have stopped. If state was elected Governor it will be stopped."

HINMAN AS MOOSE PUZZLE TO G. O. P.

Republican Leaders Fear Progressives' Attitude Will Be Embarrassing

What are the chances that Harvey D. Hinman will carry the Republican primaries and capture the nomination of that party for Governor? That is the question that is being asked by the Republican leaders all over the state yesterday. There were none who would question the Republicanism of the former State Senator, who is the choice of Col. Roosevelt for Governor. But some of the Republican leaders declared that in entering the Progressive primaries, Mr. Hinman was putting himself in a position that might prove embarrassing.

Although District Attorney Whitman up to the announcement of the candidacy of Mr. Hinman had pretty clear sailing for the Republican nomination, it was acknowledged yesterday that some of the Republican leaders, that Hinman would probably make a close fight of it.

Those friendly to Hinman expressed the belief that by primary day the thought that a candidate with both the Republican and Progressive nominations could defeat the Tammany candidate and that with two tickets in the field against the Democrats the latter would probably win, would be the controlling factor with many enrolled voters.

Hinman is unquestionably strong upstate. Former Senator John B. Rose of Orange County, and Congressman Charles M. Hamilton, of Chautauque, have already announced their advocacy of the Hinman candidacy. Ray B. Rose, the actual leader of Onondaga, of which Francis Hendricks is still the titular boss, is said to be for Hinman. Unquestionably Hinman would get the support of many other Republican leaders if he could convince them that he would support all the Republican nominees.

The Republican County Committee here has not gone on record for Whitman, although the majority of the district leaders undoubtedly have been in favor of his candidacy. Three of the districts, the 15th, 9th and 29th, have passed Whitman resolutions.

Kings County will probably fall in line for Hinman through self-interest if for no other reason. Representative William M. Calder, of Kings, is a candidate for the nomination for the United States Senate. His candidacy would best be served by making an alliance with an upstate candidate for Governor rather than one from the metropolitan district. Some of the Kings County leaders, however, have already announced their support for Whitman.

It has been suggested that the independent Democrats, realizing that to put up a candidate of their own in opposition to the choice of Tammany would increase the chances of Tammany success, would turn to Hinman. That very thing is now under discussion by them. Colonel Roosevelt unquestionably had this thing in mind when he intimated that, because of peculiar conditions in this state, it might be unwise for the Progressive party to attack the Wilson administration in the campaign here.

When William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was asked about the possibility of the independent Democrats turning to Hinman, he replied: "If any of the so-called independent Democrats support Hinman after legitimate primary, they no longer deserve to use the name of Democrat."

HINMAN IN RACE AS REPUBLICAN

Mr. Hinman has been writing and coming to see me, saying that I believe in a candidate for Governor. I am a man of limited means and my duty to my family and my business forbade my acceding to their wish. I have been acquainted with Mr. Hinman since I was a boy, and with my acquaintance and familiarity with his affairs and conditions at Albany it was my duty to make a sacrifice and to lend the fight on this issue, calling upon all decent men to aid.

"Please Muzzle Malone, McAdoo, Mitchel, Polk, or We'll Surely Sink."

FITZGERALD'S LITTLE BAND TO MAKE PLEA

Meets and Decides to Ask President Not for "Pie," but to Save It at Polls.

(From The Tribune Bureau.)

Washington, July 27. With gloomy forebodings over the outlook, fifteen Democratic members of the New York City delegation in the House met in Representative Fitzgerald's office today and resolved to ask the President for an early conference on the political situation in New York State. The New York members unanimously asserted that they shall not talk patronage with the President, but are going to the White House hoping the President will answer this question:

"What are you going to do to help us get re-elected, and can't a subpoena be put to these anti-Tammany outbursts by the so-called 'young Democrats'?"

The conference in Mr. Fitzgerald's office today demonstrated that Dudley Field Malone, Collector of the Port and patronage distributor, is not popular with the New York City delegation and is blamed largely for the criticism which the Tammanyites say have been heaped upon their heads to the general detriment of the party. Following the conference, Representative Fitzgerald issued the following statement:

"The delegation decided to request the President to meet the Democratic members of Congress from the City of New York to discuss matters of importance to the welfare of the Democratic party in the city and state of New York."

After issuing this statement, Mr. Fitzgerald sought to make an engagement with the President through Secretary Tumulty. He did not find Mr. Tumulty in the office and the engagement will be made tomorrow, probably for Wednesday. There is little doubt that the President will consent to the conference, as he has asserted he is willing to see the New York City Democrats.

Mr. Fitzgerald rather flatly explained the object of the meeting, as well as from members of the delegation, to the press. He said that a Tammanyite from the far end of the table said: "Speak up, Fitz; let's hear about it."

Then Mr. Fitzgerald observed that it was a shame that New York City Democracy was being shot to pieces; that Dudley Field Malone had started a great deal of abuse which has now become more and more a habit with the Tammanyites, and that he would be stopped, and that unless the administration did something to patch up the row the entire ticket might lose this fall. The President, Mr. Fitzgerald said, had been thoughtful about the possibility of the loss of many seats in the House through a family row.

One of the Tammany members in the delegation, who was not present, said that he had been told by Dudley Field Malone and his associates that they ought to be dignified by the notice of the delegation, he suggested, and that this White House conference would be a means of giving the Tammanyites a chance to show their worth. He said that he was not a member of the delegation, but that he was a member of the Tammany party.

"What we got to do is to look out for the ticket and get back here to Congress, not fuss over patronage," a member of the delegation said after the conference. "There's no use talking about fighting the White House. What have we got to fight with?"

The President is to be told that the outlook is none too rosy in New York, and that it is unwise to risk losing good Democratic members in the next House. It will be intimated that the administration should call off the attacks of the McGowan-Mitchell-Polk contingent and devote itself to building up political fences, rather than to encouraging, by silence or otherwise, the running of the reorganization of the organization voters, who have the party.

Representatives George, Cantor and Loft did not attend the conference, being absent from the city. Representative Levy was absent because he disapproved of the tone of the Fitzgerald call, and Representative O'Leary kept a "hands off" attitude because he regarded the affair as essentially a Tammany controversy, and he's not of Tammany.

WHITE FOR HINMAN
Ex-Governor Enthusiastic—Hendricks for Straight Ticket.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)

Syracuse, July 27.—It's too early to predict what the attitude of Republicans will be toward Hinman, said former Senator Francis Hendricks, Onondaga County leader. "But I will say," he added, "that the Republicans will nominate a complete ticket. You can wager that there will not be any Progressives on it, nor any Sublimer, nor any Democrat. It will be a Republican ticket from top to bottom. Who will be the head I do not know. I do not know either Mr. Whitman or Mr. Hinman. The newspapers say they are able men."

Former Governor Horace White is enthusiastic over Mr. Hinman. "I regard him as a very capable man," he said. "When in the State I appointed him chairman of the cities committee, and Raines and other leaders thought he should not be named."

Roger P. Clark, of Binghamton, Hinman's law partner, is here making arrangements for the campaign. Hinman headquarters will be in this city. Whitman backers have been active here.

William F. McCombs Says President Will Probably Speak for Congressional Candidates.

(From The Tribune Bureau.)

These are the men who will make the Democratic state platform of 1914: William F. McCombs, chairman of the national committee; William Church Osborn, of Dutchess, chairman of the state committee; Senator George Blauvelt, of Rockland; ex-Senator George B. Burd, of Erie; William Temple Emmet, Public Service Commissioner, of Westchester; Judge D. Cady Herrick, of Albany; Martin W. Littleton, of New York, and Fay C. Parsons, of Cortland.

They compose a sub-committee of the platform committee appointed two weeks ago by Chairman Osborn. The names were announced last night by Mr. McCombs. They will practically have the platform drafted when the entire committee meets for the first time at the Grand Union Hotel in Saratoga at 10 o'clock August 25.

"There will probably be no open hearings before the full committee at Saratoga," said Mr. McCombs. "Instead, much as it is thought that too much time will be consumed. Women representing the suffrage and anti-suffrage movements may be heard."

The conference, following the lead of the Progressives, the welfare of the Democratic party in the city and state of New York. The only excuse Mr. McCombs had to offer last night for returning to the old method of secret platform building was that there would be no publicity in the matter.

"However," he said, "we will welcome suggestions for the platform from any Democrat in the state, as well as from members of the party in the city. We do not happen to be on the sub-committee. These suggestions may be sent in writing to me."

Some of the questions that will come before the committee, according to Mr. McCombs, are:

Internal improvements and measures for the extension of the hydro-electric power of the state; the question of executive reform and the concentration of the executive authority in the Governor; the abolishment of the power of confirmation now vested in the Senate; the abolishment of the right by the Senate to consultation on removals; a short-term bill to permit the abolishment of overlapping terms of office; the freedom from federal interest of the waterways of the state; a state constabulary outside of the metropolitan area; the submission of the question of woman suffrage.

Mr. McCombs said he favored most of these propositions and believed they would be incorporated in the platform. He said that he was not a member of the sub-committee, but that he was a member of the Democratic party in the city yesterday was somewhat of a mystery. He was on his way West from his conference with President Wilson in Washington when he learned that he was to be the reason, but it was significant that Thomas F. Pence, who keeps in touch with things in Washington for the national committee, spent the evening in the city with the national chairman. The afternoon spent with Mr. Osborn.

Mr. McCombs will make another start on his Western trip today. His object is to get into the Congressional situation in the West. He is going to Minneapolis, Denver, Salt Lake City, Portland, Seattle and possibly Kansas City. He will be gone for about three weeks, not getting back until the middle of September. His mail on the state platform will be handled here, and the suggestions will be turned over to other members of the committee, while copies are forwarded to him.

In San Francisco Mr. McCombs has been invited to talk before the Democratic women and on behalf of James G. Phelps, former Mayor, who is a candidate for nomination at the primaries this year.

"If there is any opposition to Phelps," said Mr. McCombs, "I cannot talk for him, as my trip is for the purpose of harmonizing rather than to take sides in factional fights."

Chairman McCombs said he did not know whether President Wilson would speak in this state in the Congressional campaign, but he assumed he would. He would not comment on the decision of the Congressional delegation from this state to go to the President and ask that he be recognized in matters of patronage. It would be time enough for him to comment after he had been to the White House, he said.

He thought the Congressional situation in this state would come out satisfactorily. It is known that he is pleased with the assurances he has received from Washington as to the course to be pursued.

GETS $10,000 JOB AS M'COOEY'S FOE

Dwyer To Be Chief of Cancellation Bureau for Opposition to Kings Leader.

(From The Tribune Bureau.)

John F. Dwyer, who is to be designated as chief of the bureau for the cancellation of revenue stamps by John K. Sagoe, Appraiser of the Port, yesterday he would at once open war against his old foe, John H. McCooley, Democratic boss of Kings, and his leadership throughout the county.

Dwyer, who is to get one of the most sought after federal jobs in the city on the understanding that he is to lead the fight against McCooley, has for sixteen years held a $1,500 job as clerk in the Fifth District Municipal Court, in Bath Beach. He lives in modest fashion, as befits his salary.

His new position, the compensation for which comes from percentage on the value of the stamps cancelled, will net him not less than $10,000 a year, and has been estimated to be worth more than that amount. It is paid by the importers, who have a hand in the selection of the man, although they never select anybody except the man agreeable to the appraiser.

Dwyer's only claim to fame is that he has fought McCooley for the leadership of the Eighteenth Assembly District in Kings. In 1911 he came within 250 votes of winning.

It is understood that there were more than 400 applicants for the job that is to go to Dwyer. For several years it was held by Collin H. Woodward, Republican leader of the Twenty-first Assembly District.

From St. Louis a business revival within sixty days accompanied by demands for credit from mercantile houses, was forecast.
